

What Offers Citizenship - Land or Blood?

● Rule of the Land

● Rule of the Blood

Jus Soli (Rule of Land)

If born in the blue nations, you are automatically offered citizenship irrespective of your parents' nationalities.

Jus Sanguinis (Rule of Blood)

If born in the red nations, your citizenship depends on the citizenship of your parents.

American citizenship can be acquired by birthright in two cases:

- A person is born within a US territory
 - Anyone born in US waters or over US airspace is a citizen.
 - the person is of unknown parentage found in the United States while under the age of five years, until shown, prior to his attaining the age of 21 years, not to have been born in the United States
 - The “subject to the jurisdiction thereof” clause excludes US-born children of foreign diplomats
- Born outside the US, but at least one of the person’s parents is a US citizen
 - To married parents:
 - ↳ If one parent is a US citizen and the other is not, the youth will have citizenship so long as the citizen-parent lived in the US for five years prior to the child’s birth (two of those years must have been after the age 14)
 - To unmarried parents:
 - ❖ US-citizen mom: kid is a citizen only if mom lived in the US for one year prior to birth.
 - ❖ US-citizen dad: kid is a citizen only if dad lived in the US for one year prior to birth, AND (1) dad agrees to assume financial support until the kid is 18, (2) father acknowledges paternity by DNA test, admission under oath or legal ruling.

This distinction between unwed American fathers and mothers was constructed by Congress out of fear that illegitimate Korean and Vietnamese children would later claim American citizenship

Foundation law

14th Amendment to the US Constitution (1868)

↳ "All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside."

Also...

- Birthright citizenship does not give the child's foreign parent a path to a green card.
- US citizen kids can stay in the United States, but their foreign parents can't.
- US law is silent on the topic of dual nationality/citizenship, nor does it require a person to choose one citizenship of another.

US government limits the number of Green cards each year

DACA / “Dreamers”

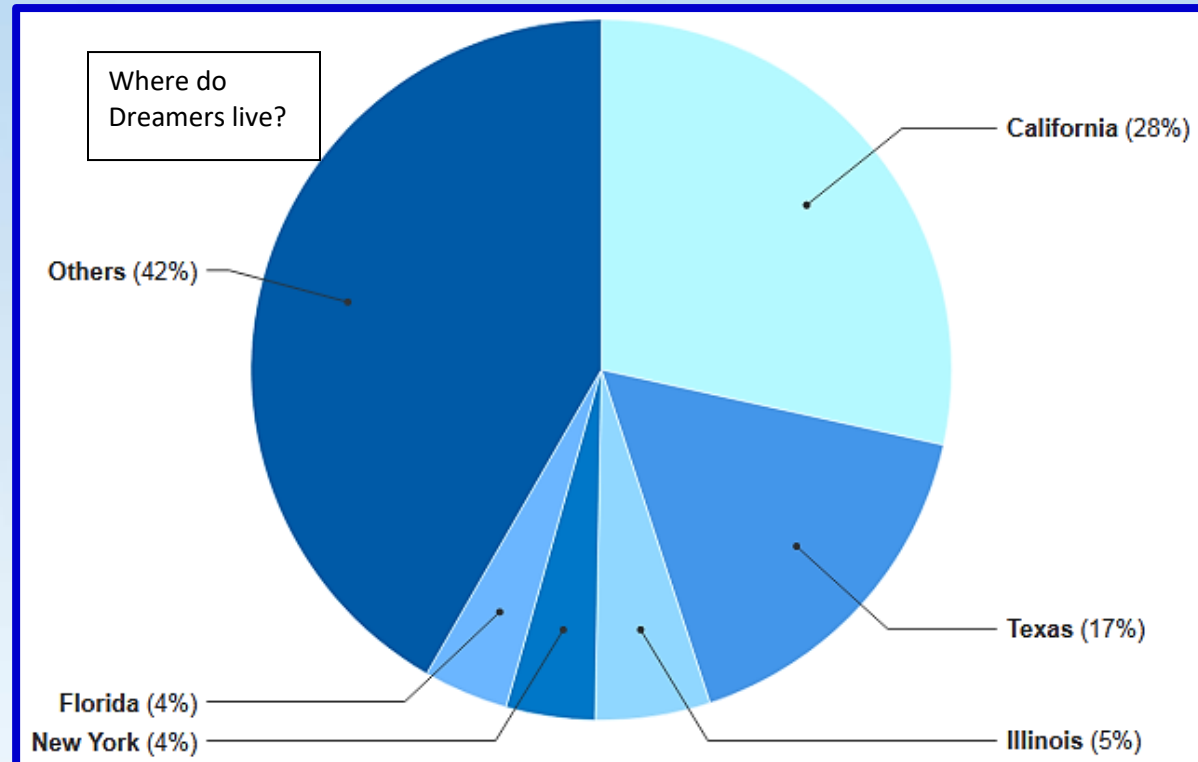

DACA was established via Executive Action in June 2012 to protect certain undocumented immigrants who were brought to the US as children from removal proceedings.

To be eligible for the program, they must:

- Have arrived in the US before age 16, and before June 2007 (and be under age 31 as of June 2012; which is under age 41 as of 2022)
- Be currently enrolled in school, have completed high school, or be a veteran
- Have no lawful status as of June 2012

The DACA program does not provide a pathway for Dreamers to become U.S. citizens or even legal permanent residents.

There is no legal pathway for Dreamers to earn citizenship at all, despite 86% of American voters supporting giving Dreamer’s pathways to legal status

DACA / “Dreamers”

Criticism of the DACA program

- DACA and the Dream Act only encourage more illegal immigration.
- Amnesty should not be given to law breakers.
- DACA sets a bad precedent for letting presidents circumvent the legislative branch.
- DACA recipients cannot receive amnesty, a path to citizenship, or legalization.
DACA recipients can get a temporary stay against their deportation for two years at a time. DACA recipients cannot vote. DACA recipients cannot receive any federal benefits, like Social Security, college financial aid, or food stamps.

Celebrations of the DACA program

- Protects eligible immigrants who came to the United States when they were children from deportation.
- DACA gives undocumented immigrants a work permit.
- DACA allows youth to remain in schools, which are safer than those from the country in which they originated
